K-12 COVID RELIEF FUNDING

The COVID-19 pandemic has been challenging and exhausting in ways we never imagined. It has required an extremely present approach to educational planning even as it demanded remote and hybrid learning. Recognizing the unprecedented circumstances, the federal government has made an extraordinary amount of funding available to help schools and communities respond through the Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER) and Governor's Emergency Education Relief (GEER) Programs.

The five funding streams that make up ESSER and GEER allow for broad interpretation based on individual state and community needs.

The legislation and guidance documents clearly indicate these funds can be used for preparation for and rapid response during the pandemic as well as for community recovery and longer-term preparation for similar future challenges.

The pandemic showed us we have a lot more work to do to educate our communities about health and improve health outcomes. It also showed us we are creative problem-solvers able to respond to any challenge when we work together.

How will your school use ESSER and GEER funds to re-envision and realize your student achievement and community health outcomes?
Let Precor Commercial Fitness help you move forward !
